Christmas Worship Times

December 24th 5:30 p.m. This will be our Contemporary Family Style Christmas Eve Service. We will begin singing Christmas Carols at 5:15 p.m.

December 24th 10:30 p.m. This will be our Traditional Christmas Eve Service. We will begin singing Christmas Carols at 10:20 p.m.

December 25th 10:00 a.m. This will be our Christmas Day service. It is a traditional service without music.

From the Pile on Fr. Kirk's Desk...

As I mentioned in my sermon on the 1st of December, Advent is a time of waiting and preparation.

The disciples couldn't wait for Jesus to return and they even expected Jesus to come back during their lifetime....and not just come back, but among the clouds in GREAT GLORY...as the Powerful Messiah. There are many Christians who are sitting and waiting for Jesus to return like this too. Is waiting for Jesus to return like this wrong? I don't think so, but if that is all we are waiting for, we will surely miss out on all the best stuff.

Advent is a time of waiting and preparing for the coming of Christ. As we do this, Jesus told us to love God first and foremost...and then we are to love our neighbors. To truly love God and our neighbors we have to be awake and intentional.

If we are awake and intentional in sharing love, we will find that Jesus actually "returns" all the time. Now THIS is the best stuff. There is nothing better than coming face to face with Christ as we come face to face with our neighbors, offering them the same love and grace that has been given to us.

Don't miss out on the best stuff...

Peace, Kirk⁺

The Bishop's Corner

by the Rt. Rev. Dan Edwards

Dear Episcopalians of the Diocese of Nevada,

"Mission" is the watchword of the day in church circles. Bishop Katharine says, "The heartbeat of the church is mission, mission, mission." Ok, but what is it? Who made it up? And why does it matter?

The word "mission" has a lot of associations for church folks. It conjures up little Spanish buildings like the Alamo. It reminds us of mission churches on Native reservations. We think of mission trips to Africa. Mission has meant providing life saving health care and economic development. Mission has spread the good news of God's love. "Publish glad tidings." It has also been (usually unwittingly) a stalking horse for exploitation and oppression. The saintly Albert Schweitzer was followed by the colonial profiteer Cecil Rhodes. When some speak of the "missional church" these days, they are likely to mean loose associations of spiritual but not religious people meeting in secular locations to engage in spiritual discourses and rituals that are intentionally and emphatically "not Church, not religious, not institutional" etc. So when someone says "mission," I listen closely to sniff out what – if anything – they mean.

That said, I believe the word is vitally important. So what does it really mean? It may help to put all our churchy associations with "mission" and on the shelf for a few minutes and start instead with a military association (sorry pacifists). In the military, the mission is what the team (unit, platoon, squadron, battalion, regiment, etc.) exists to do. The mission holds them together. They aren't together as social friends. They share a common mission. Each member is willing to sacrifice himself to accomplish it. The mission is a group goal that is more important than anyone's individual agenda. It is what must be done, no matter what. Mission has urgency about it. We lay down our preferences for it. We work with people we don't necessarily even like for the sake of the mission.

When the Church speaks of Christ's mission, it means God is up to something in the world and has entrusted the job to us. We are God's agents. Right away, this challenges some common assumptions about Christianity. A lot of folks think it's about individuals holding the right doctrinal opinions or experiencing the right religious feelings, and as a reward they go to heaven instead of hell. That is a very common view of Christianity. But it is surprising how little evidence you can find for that brand of religion in the Gospels, the Creeds, or the teachings of the Early Church. Instead we find a wealth of evidence that Jesus lived, died, and rose again to usher in something he called the Kingdom of God. The Kingdom is a radical reversal of the ways of the world, so that love instead of money makes the world go round, the first becomes last and the last first, the lion lays down with the lamb, the hungry are filled with good things and the rich are sent empty away. The Kingdom is so different from our ordinary experience that Jesus can only point toward it with provocative surprise ending zinger stories (parables, "The Kingdom of God is like") Even Jesus could not say what the Kingdom is, only that it is like this or like that. But it is like something surprising and joyful and utterly new. Being the vanguard for a new way of living is a tall task. "If anyone is in Christ, look! A new creation!" It's a big, big deal.

When congregations fall into a moldy habit of meeting regularly, just trying to keep the doors open, offering each other spiritual support, but not engaging the world outside their walls, they are apt to do little harm in the world – but they are not engaged in the mission. They may be Christians in their beliefs but they are deserters in their common life. As a result, not much happens in their souls. The mission changes people's lives by giving them a whole new purpose "to live not for self alone but for him who lived and died for us."

So just what is the mission? My way of finding it is to take the Gospels and stack them up against the on-the-ground situation in which we live. What does the Gospel tell us about human trafficking, domestic violence, pandemics, poverty, environmental degradation, the threat of genocide in the Central African Republic? We are the Body of Christ. What does the Body of Christ do in the face of such things? Karl Barth began each day reading the Bible and the newspaper – together. Not a bad way to find the Kingdom mission.

For those who want to have the answer spelled out a bit clearer in advance, we have some guides from the Church. We might start with the Catechism. The mission of the Church is "to reconcile all people to God and each other in Christ." The world is spiritually bleeding to death from the wounds of broken relationships. We have been given the job of healing those wounds. Who is at odds in the world today? The Church's job is to bring them together and make peace. If we don't know how to do that, it's our job to learn.

Another helpful guide is the Five Marks of Mission adopted by the Episcopal Church and the Anglican Communion:

1. Proclaim the gospel (evangelism)

2. Baptize and nurture new believers (sacraments & education)
3. Merciful service to those in need (charity)
4. Transform unjust structures (advocacy)
5. Care for the earth (environmental care)

It makes for a good checklist. A congregational meeting or a vestry might have a good World Café style discussion asking two questions:

1. What are we doing on each of the marks of mission?
2. What could we do on each of the marks of mission that we are not doing now?

I suspect most churches would find that they are already doing more on each of the marks than they know. I am positive any church that dares ask these questions would find interesting, even fun, new ways to go about making the path straight for Christ and his Kingdom.

This may be a heresy to the dogmas of modern management. But I don't put that much stock in "mission statements." I don't put that much stock in any strategic plan if it was made over four months ago. But I believe everything depends on our asking earnestly and often what we are doing and what we intend to do in the immediate future to overturn the ways of the world with the ways of God. What are we doing to connect people with Jesus? What are we doing now, this month, to teach people authentic Christianity as distinguished from the imposter religion that has stolen our identity and wrecked our reputation? Who is hurting that needs our tangible material kindness? What injustice is hiding in the shadows needing to be exposed and reversed? What part can we play in restoring balance to our God-given eco-system? We may not come up with the right answers. We may not be able to act on the answers we come up with. But we can at least ask the right questions – ask them often and ask them seriously.

Yours in Christ,

Dan Edwards
10th Bishop of Nevada

Sr. Warden's Report

Dear St. Paul's Family,

Thank you for supporting the Stewardship campaign: Together We Are St. Paul's. This is how Episcopalians support the mission of their church. We put our gifts of time, talent and treasure together to achieve all God has in store for us.

Advent begins on December 1st! This is the beginning of the church calendar: Happy New Year!! There are book studies and other special events during the month to help you focus on preparing for Christmas. December 22nd will be a busy day at the church with the presentation of Lessons and Carols followed by the Greening of the Church. The Greening of the Church involves putting up the Christmas Trees and live greens as decorations. It won't take long if everyone works together. There will also be a meal together that day; look for announcements in other parts of the Epistle and on the slides.

Thank you,

Margaret Bouzek
Senior Warden

Regular Sunday Worship Times

- 11:00 a.m. Traditional Rite II, with Organ
- 5:00 p.m. Traditional Rite II, no music

Jr. Warden's Report

Fortunately, we have not any major issues with the building this month.

We replaced a battery in an emergency light in the hallway by the kitchen.

We replaced some burnt out light bulbs in the "can" lights around the outside of the building on the north and west sides and one in the choir area.

The irrigation system has been shut down for the winter.

St. Paul's Prayers & Squares

The "Prayers and Squares" ministry is a special "outreach" tool to share the love of Christ. The quilts bring a tangible example of the love we all share with those who are suffering in body, mind or spirit. You do not have to know how to sew, or like to sew, but can also just join us for the fellowship we all share.

We meet on the second Saturday of each month in the Parish Hall from 9 A.M. to noon.

We gladly receive donations of materials, thread, etc. and cash to purchase necessary supplies.

If you would like to join us, or if you would like to request a quilt for someone, please contact Victoria Sidener 322-2375.

Organ Donor Awareness Month

December is Organ Donor Awareness Month. There will be an information table in the narthex on December 8th. Being an organ donor is easy and painless. ☺ If you are not already, please pray about it.

Youth Group: EYC

10:30 to 12:30 Sundays in the Youth Room
(Meets each week unless otherwise noted)

What is EYC? EYC is an Episcopal Youth Community where all youth (and their friends) grades 6-12 are invited to come to participate. The focus will be different each week, but you can count on whatever the EYC is doing it will stimulate our growth with God, our growth with each, and our growth in serving Christ in the world.

Not sure about the EYC thing? We invite you to come and see.

From the Youth Leader:

I'm so pleased at the level of commitment to EYC being shown by our youth. If you have not noticed, we have a wonderful group of thoughtful and caring youth in our parish.

I am also pleased and very thankful for the support the congregation is extending to our youth. You have given them their own space, kept them fed, transported them, and help them understand what Christian community is all about. Thank you St. Paul's!

EYC December Schedule

EYC December 1st: No EYC today...spend time with your family and be thankful.

EYC December 8th: Growing with God day. We will be looking at Advent in our lives.

EYC December 15th: Christmas Party!!!

NO EYC December 22nd or 29th

St. Paul's Garden Project

Do you like the idea of St. Paul's having a Parish Garden? We are looking to transform the grassy area in the back of the building into a raised garden paradise. If you would like to help make this happen we could use your help.

We are going to need to strip the grass, raise the boxes, install drip lines, etc., and we need to raise about $1,500 to pay for it. Yes...we could really use your help!

This project will help benefit our parishioners as well as feed the hungry from the pantry. If you have questions, or if you want to donate your skills and funding to the project, please contact The Rev. Mike Margerum at mgoodmarge@gmail.com or 775-229-2695.

Energy: The average US home has enough air leaks to equal an open window. Sealing and insulating your home can save you up to 20% on heating and cooling costs, and upwards of 10% on your total energy bill.

A simple method for inspecting your home for energy-sucking air leaks is to take a stick of incense on a windy day, and hold it around window frames, doors, and areas where plumbing and wiring go through walls. How much the smoke drifts horizontally away from the incense reveals how serious a leak you may have.

Got Shoes?

Deacon Mike is collecting new and gently used men's shoes to donate to the Restitution Center. The Restitution Center helps inmates transition from being incarcerated into finding jobs upon release. There is a barrel in the narthex for you to put the shoes. Thank you.

Advent Study: The Lord's Prayer

During the first three weeks in December we are going to take a closer look at the Lord's Prayer and how we might better apply it to our lives. This one hour class will be offered at two separate days and times:

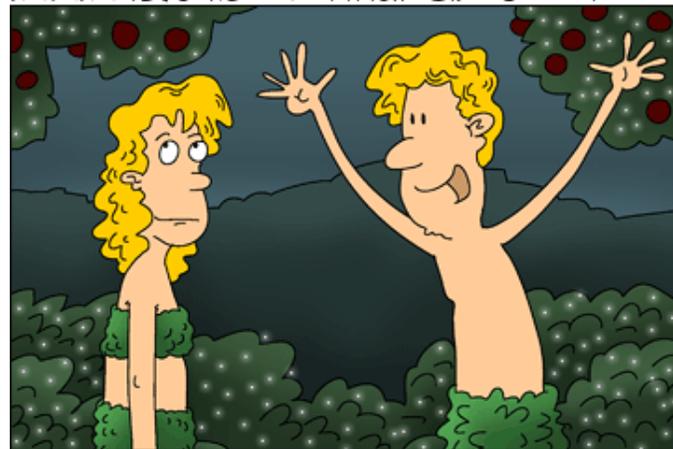

Wednesdays at 6:00 p.m. beginning Dec. 4th
Sundays at 3:00 p.m. beginning Dec. 1st

Come and join Fr. Kirk during this time of preparation for the birth of our savior.

Baptismal Days: January and April

The next scheduled days for baptisms will be January 12th and Easter services, Saturday April 19th and 20th. If you or someone you know is seeking baptism, please contact the parish office to arrange proper instruction. 775-358-4474 Office@StPaulsSparks.org

MERRY CHRISTMAS, EVE

Help Sponsor Special Music

We have had such a positive response from our members when we have guest musicians play in our traditional worship services.

Because of this, we would like to be able to bring in special musicians more often throughout the year.

If you would like to help sponsor a string quartet and trumpet player for our 10:30 p.m. Christmas service, as well as other musicians throughout the year, you now have the opportunity.

There are special envelopes in the narthex that you can use to make a donation to the special music fund in honor or memory of someone you love.

Envelopes for Christmas altar poinsettias are in the narthex. This is a wonderful way to remember loved ones and to give thanks for God's blessings

Advent Festival of Lessons & Carols

December 22nd Combined 10:00 a.m. service. This service will be The Advent Festival of Lessons and Carols. There will be a regular 5:00 p.m. service on this day.

Annual Parish Meeting

On Sunday, January 26th we will have our annual parish meeting during a combined 10:00 a.m. worship service. Since every member is HIGHLY encouraged and/or expected to attend this meeting there will not be a 5:00 p.m. service on this Sunday.

New Vestry Members Needed

Do you love St. Paul's and actively participate in worship and ministry? Do you have a desire for the mission of St. Paul's to expand and grow in the years to come? Are you able to make decisions for the future of St. Paul's?

If you answered yes to these questions, please contact Fr. Kirk to discuss what it means to be on the Vestry of the parish. 358-4474 Kirk@StPaulsSparks.org

Daughters of the King

"Have you seen that beautiful quilt hanging in the Narthex?! If not, go take a gander! It was made by our own Julia Stoddard. She has donated it to the Daughters of the King. We will raffle it off this December. For only $1.00 a ticket or 6 for $5.00, it could go home with you after the service on December 22nd! Get your tickets from Margaret Bouzek or Victoria Sidener. The proceeds will go to the Casa de Vida, a charity that helps young women who are pregnant and/or their babies."

It's Christmas Card Time Again

Are you planning on sending Christmas cards to other members of St. Paul's? If so, instead of mailing them let the St. Paul's "elves" hand deliver them for you.

Here's how:

You will find a decorated Christmas Mail Box in the Narthex. Write the name of the people/person you would like your card to reach. (no physical address necessary). Don't put a stamp on the envelope. Instead, count the number of cards you are putting in the box and include an envelope that contains cash/check made out to St. Paul's for that amount it would have cost to actually mail them.

The St. Paul's "elves" will hand deliver your cards and the church will benefit from your donation. Every little bit counts with a deficit budget.
